

PIANO SALE

3 Days Only

For the past few years, a number of Baltimore Archdiocese Schools have been using new pianos through an ongoing arrangement with Jason's Music Center. The schools receive free new pianos each academic year. This program is an answer to our problem of old pianos in constant need of repair.

Often these pianos are exchanged for new instruments and the one- or two-year old pianos are sold to Archdiocese student families at a steep discount. We need your help to perpetuate this program. A successful sale will help Archdiocese Schools continue to receive new pianos for our students.

The pianos used in our schools program, as well as other new and used, acoustic and digital pianos will be offered to parents, alumni, faculty, staff and students at reduced prices. New pianos from Baldwin, Kawai, Pramberger, and Samick, as well as used pianos from names such as Yamaha, Steinway, and Young Chang will also be available.

These pianos have been professionally maintained and carry 5 to 10 year warranties. The selection includes new and used grand, upright, player and digital pianos. Sales assistance, service, financing & delivery will be provided on-site by Jason's Music Center.

There are two ways to participate in this unique piano opportunity:

- 1. Make an appointment on Friday, November 20th or Saturday, November 21st, (strongly recommended) by calling 410-647-9172 and indicate that you received this letter.
- 2. By attending the sale for the general public on Sunday, November 22nd, 2015, from Noon to 4:00 PM.

As budgetary sources remain limited, the importance of this creative program increases. Having sufficient pianos in our music departments is essential for our students. With this in mind, we ask you to take time to go and see these special pianos.

Parents, students, faculty, alumni and anyone else interested, are invited to make an appointment on Friday and Saturday by calling:
